Reliance organizes blood donation camp

CHANDIGARH JULY 8: Reliance Communications, India's largest and only telecom service provider to offer nationwide GSM and CDMA services, organized a blood donation camp on seventh death anniversary of its founder chairman and pioneer of Industry in India, Shri Dhirubhai Ambani at its IT park office premises and other cluster offices in Punjab. The blood donation camp was organized in association with Rotary and Blood Bank Society Resource Centre, Chandigarh.

78 Employees from various departments of Reliance Communications donated blood on this noble occasion. Donors were given T-Shirts, Bags and issued Certificates by the Rotary and Blood Bank Society

On this Occasion, Shri Arvind Kumar, Hub Head, Punjab, Himachal and J&K Circles said "Every year India requires 40 millions units (250 cc) of blood, of which only a meager units is met thru Voluntary blood donations. There is no better source of blood available than our individual philanthropic gesture"
